... enjoy the fair weather followed by enough rain to keep us winter happy ...

... many good thoughts to all of our pew people who ventured off on summer sojourns and have now returned to their daily routine ... may good health follow in the footsteps for those who have weathered some not-feeling-so-good days this summer ...

... I am back with 1st graders in daughter's class and am especially enjoying my first experience working with an autistic boy ... I have learned to work fast as his attention span is almost nil ...

... Ole", observed Lena one day. "Our new neighbors are so darling...everytime he leaves for work he tenderly kisses his wife good-bye ... vy don't you do that?" "Now Lena", replies Ole, "vy would I do that, I don't even know her!" ...

... a man who just died is delivered to a local mortuary wearing an expensive black suit ... the female blonde mortician asks the wife how she would like the body dressed ... the wife said he always liked his black suits but she thought he looked best in blue and she gives the mortician a blank check to buy a blue suit for the viewing ... the wife returns the next day for the wake and is happy to see the deceased dressed in a gorgeous blue pin stripe suit ... the wife said, "Whatever this costs I am very satisfied. How much did you spend?" "Oh, there's no charge ... you see a deceased gentleman about your husband's size was brought in wearing an attractive blue suit and the wife had no objection to her husband being buried in a black suit as long as he looked nice, so I just switched the heads!"

... a sweet grandma telephoned St. Joseph's Hospital and timidly asked how a patient was doing ... the operator was more than willing to help and asked for the name and room number ... Norma Findlay in Room 302", came back the weak voice ... in a few minutes the operator reported that Norma was doing very well ... her blood pressure is fine and her blood work came back normal and the best news was that she could go home on Tuesday." ... the grandmother thanked her and said, "That's wonderful. God Bless you for the good news ... the operator asked if Norma was her daughter ... the grandmother replied, "No, I'm Norma Findlay in 302 ... no one tells me anything!" ... peace, Grandma ...
